DETAILED ACTION

Response to Election/Restriction

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Group I, claims 1-20 and 34-43 in the reply filed on 17 March 2008 is acknowledged.

Claims 21-33 and 44-46 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 17 March 2008.

Information Disclosure Statement

2. Note: Examiner has listed the US Patent Application Publication on the Notice of References Cited since the case number was cited wrong on the IDS filed 5/23/08 (i.e. instead of 2003/041098 it should be 2003/0041098).

Double Patenting

3. Claims 1-20 and 34-43 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-26 of U.S. Patent No. 7,357,323 (from hereinafter the '323 patent).

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because in claims 1-20 and 34-43 of the instant application, applicants claim a method of maintaining a status of a product item, the interface of the item having a plurality of coded data portions that are able to be sensed by a sensing device wherein the steps of the method comprise sensing at least one coded data portion, generating indicating data indicative of the product item identity, and transferring the indicating data to a computer system, the computer system being responsive to the indicating data to update product status information stored in a data store. Claims 1-26 of the '323 patent claim recite the same steps of the method, but in the context of requesting assistance related to a product item. Both sets of claims teach of obtaining information for a product item, the claims differ only in terminology since the current application is teaching of the system within maintaining a status of the item, wherein the '323 patent is teaching of the system of requesting assistance related to a product item. Hence, in view of the discussions above, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the teachings of the '323 patent to arrive at the invention of the instant application.

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

> A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –
> (e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1, 34, and 41-42 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Wen et al. (U.S. Patent Application Publication No. 2003/0229678, from hereinafter "Wen").

Regarding claims 1, 34, and 41-42, Wen teaches a method of maintaining a status of a product item which includes sensing some of the coded data on the interface surface (step S2) with a sensor (scanning module in wireless device 2), generating indicating data indicative of the product item identity with a processor (wireless device 2) (step S3), and transferring the indicating data to a computer system being responsive to the indicating data to update product status information stored in a data store (step S4, where product information database 411 is searched for product information 410 and step S5) (see Figures 1-2, paragraphs 16-28).

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 2-19, 35-40 and 43 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims, and to overcome the double patenting rejection.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The best prior art of Wen fails to specifically teach the limitations of the dependent claims.
